

AG Kilmartin to Offer Mobile Criminal Background Check Services throughout August

To assist the public in obtaining the required criminal background checks mandated by various Rhode Island General Laws, Attorney General Peter F. Kilmartin is again offering state and national background check services at several locations across the state throughout August.

In addition to the regular hours of operation for the Bureau of Criminal Identification (BCI) at the Office of Attorney General in Providence, mobile background check services at different locations will be available to any individual who is required by statute to have a national background check conducted through the Office of Attorney General* and for those who are required to have a state background check for employment or volunteering.

There are several statutes that dictate what type of background check is required for various employment or license. Further, these statutes dictate where such a national background check may be processed. A complete list is available on the Attorney General's website at <http://www.riag.ri.gov/>.
